Curious by nature and passionate about technology, I am always looking to understand how things work.

After a few years working as a sports teacher and coach, I decided to take my problem solving skills to another level and completed a computer science and programming course, where I learned about algorithms, data structures, software engineering and web development. That's when I found out that I wanted to become a Web Developer!

Do you have a challenging opportunity in Web development?

Keen to show you how driven I am!
